VOL. XVI. WASHINGTON, D. C., SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1897. No. 4

SENATOR B. K. BRUCE.

Ex-Senator BRUCE is not only one of the most popular, but also one of the most useful men of our race. He was supported for a place in the President's Cabinet by nine-tenths of the colored newspapers of the country backed by the great masses of our people. He is now urged with great unanimity for the position of Register of the Treasury—an office which he held for four years, conducting it in such a manner as to reflect great credit upon the race he so ably and creditably represents. Mr. BRUCE is not an experiment, but a grand success, and his appointment will be hailed with joy by the millions of our people from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

THEY SAY.

The boys are kicking.

What will the harvest be?

Don't be alarmed boys, the plums are coming.

Happy is the man who expects nothing.

Be true to those who are true to you.

Liars cannot succeed no matter who they may be.

You should never promise any more than what you can do.

There is honesty among thieves, certainly there should be truthfulness among politicians.

Some people may believe that they can succeed by lieing.

You cannot make a great man out of nothing.

The elements of greatness should be in the man.

Henry Johnson is a candidate for the Anacostia postoffice.

He was introduced to the President last week.

THE BEE has a document in its possession which will no doubt surprise the President.

It is unwise for men to play tweedle dee and tweedle dom.

THE BEE holds a high hand and it will be shown.

It is easier to tell the truth than to lie.

There are several candidates for the National Chairman of the Afro-American League Convention.

A good man should be elected President.

Who will it be? Talk easy as you may be heard.

Be good citizens and you will make no mistake.

The Anacostia postoffice will not go to Johnson.

More than two can play at that game.

Some people may believe they are great until their strenghth is tested.

A new leadership is demanded.

We should not forget our duty to our fellow man.

Don't forget your duty to your friends.

It is dangerous to mislead those to whom you have made promises.

Its after results are disastrious.

What has become of the original McKinley men?

There does'nt appear to be so much enthusiasm among the original McKinley men.

There is no cause for apprehension.

Look about you and select a National Chairman of the Afro-American League.

Be useful and good citizens.

Don't forget what your duty is to your people.

Liars are often paid back in their own coin.

It is the great man who will not stoop to small things.

What has become of those who were to get big offices?

There is to be a new leadership.

You may think you know it all, but you are mistaken.

THE BEE is no man's organ.

It is the people's defender.

If there are traitors in the race we shall expose them to the people.

There are trimmers and apologists no one will deny.

Don't forget your duty to your people.

Some people will find out that they don't know it all.

Just wait and watch results.

Dr. Geo. H. Richardson is the coming man.

There is to be a new leadership.

"You may deceive some people sometimes and fool a few people all the time, but not all the people all the time."

A thief sometimes makes successful stands but he is eventually caught.

False leadership will be exposed.

REGISTER OF THE TREASURY

IT IS quite evident that a representative colored citizen will be appointed Register of the Treasury. The President will appoint a man who has the respect and confidence of his fellow citizens. We don't mean the respect of a crafty and corrupt politician, but the respect of citizens who believe in a pure and honest government. We know President MCKINLEY is the man to give us a pure government and representatives places irrespective of color. Have we such a man among us who meets all the requirements of a representative colored citizen? Have we a man whose appointment as Register of the Treasury, will give dignity to the Administration and to the colored race? Have we a man who will be acceptable to the honorable Secretary of the Treasury, who has shown his friendship for the colored citizen? The Administration must have a man who is respected, not only by his colored fellow citizens, but by the opposite race as well. President MCKINLEY is anxious to satisfy and please his colored fellow citizens, if he is permitted, but if men fight among themselves and refuse to be satisfied with anything and threaten to annihilate the republican party if the President refuses to appoint this one or that one, will do the colored man no good. It is the best evidence that such men are not republicans from principles, but for the spoils of office. President MCKINLEY wants a sagacious, wise, and discreet representative colored citizen near him. He wants a man who is truthful and possessing the dignity of a Chesterfield and the political forethought of a Blaine.

We have a man who is a typical American, a wise and astute politician who commands the respect of the American people and one who will add credit to his Administration.

We present for the consideration of the President, a man who is held in high esteem by the American people, and as being a most discreet and honorable representative citizen. A man who has dignified every position he has ever held, elective and appointive.

The President cannot make any mistake in this appointment. We would not attempt to detract from others the merits they deserve, nor would we offer a name that is not known throughout the civilized world and respected by the masses of the colored people. The man who will dignify the position of Register of the Treasury, is EX-Senator BLANCHE K. BRUCE, a polished scholar, a refined gentleman, a finished orator and an astute politician.

In strange contrast with the flurry and opposition displayed in the United States over the mere probability of colored officers in the Navy, stands the English government which during the jubilee is glad to respect, honor and entertain the black officers of her navy. Although claiming to possess a more liberal government it is certain that America has many lessons in liberality, justice and humanity to learn from the English people.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

The extreme deliberation displayed by President McKinley in considering the claims of colored men to official preferment, seems to be exciting alarm among many colored republicans. It is claimed that this caution on the part of the President is altogether inconsistent with the policy he has adopted relative to the appointment of his white adherents and indicates an indisposition to recognize the loyal and patient colored ally. Many would-be leaders, observing these manifestations of unrest, are beginning to sow the seeds of discord and suspicion. Some of them have tasted of the fruits of office and having been disappointed in their expections of further recognition, are secret and specious methods, manufacturing sentiment against the administration. They are even setting their pegs to boom, new aspirants for presidential honors upon the plea that Maj. McKinley fails to appreciate the eminent services of colored voters during the last campaign. They point to the numerous offices which he has given to white republicans, some of which were held by colored men, under the Harrison administration. They say if the President can take time enough from the absorbing subject of the tariff bill, which he has promised to the country as his first duty to make hundreds of white appointments, it is strange that he cannot consume enough time to give colored claimants sufficient consideration to justify a number of colored appointments. Such is in substance what we hear from a number of sources. The reasons (?) for unrest above referred to are not as cogent as one would suppose at first thought. It must be remembered that Maj. McKinley has been in office less than four months. He came into office under peculiar circumstances promising as his first great measure a protective tariff through which the avenues of business will be multiplied and the prosperity of the nation increased. He has been compelled, during this time, to adjust diplomatic relations which had been sadly neglected by his predecessor and to over come that friction which executive indiscretion would only increase. It is true that he has filled many offices, but in the main they were such as necessity required. He has also, it is true given places which have hitherto been held by colored men, to white men, but that is no proof of his indisposition to properly care for the colored man.

On the contrary, the fact that he has not set apart certain offices and marked them "black" shows that he is broad enough to regard all republicans alike whether black or white and is inclined to place the deserving colored man in new and untried offices in which he can display his ability. We believe that Major McKinley is a true man, a true republican and a true Christian and that he would no more fail to properly reward the colored man for his fidelity to him, than he would to reward his white friends. The secret of the unrest, if there be any, is due partly to inexperience and partly to the impatience of the colored people. When the President shall have received the passage of his promised tariff bill or when it has so far progressed that he can find time to direct attention to other matters, we predict that he will bestow handsome recognition on the colored people and agreeably surprise his impatient, though faithful friends, and disappoint his enemies. At all events, we cannot afford to pre-judge; but must abide our time in patience and hope. We believe that Maj. McKinley will do the right thing at the right time.

The country at large is awaiting the birth of the tariff bill and the colored people in particular are anxious to know what sort of a bill will be presented them at the McKinley festive board.

TALKERS NOT ACTORS.

American Negro can boast of one thing and in that he is pre-eminent. The caucasian can boast of his knowledge in the arts and sciences and possessing the art of money making and his entire control of government, but there is one thing, only, in which the Negro surpasses all other nationalities, and that is, his talking proclivities without carrying his talking into active execution. Yes the Negro can talk. He can make more fuss and threaten what he will do and never does it, than any other nationality upon this globe. He can take more snubs and insults and talk about what he will do and never does it than anybody else.

The Negro calls conventions and resolves himself into a committee of the whole and resolves to protect himself against lynch law and unfair treatment. He resolves to leave the republican party because the democratic party ill treats him and discriminates against him on account of his color. He declares that he will not support the republican party because the democratic party favors klu kluxism and never allows one as a delegate in any of their presidential conventions. He is opposed to the democratic party because the republican party recognizes the Negro in all republican conventions and the foreign service. Yes, the Negro has been holding national conventions ever since his emancipation and resolves to hold more. If you beat the Negro resolving and resoluting you have got to "get up and get." He can say more and do less than any other race upon this earth.

Some few days ago he resolved to put a straight colored ticket in the state of Maryland and afterward resolved it was unwise. Some few months ago a few department Negroes in this city resolved not to support any store in this city that refused to employ colored salesmen and women. These same stores have not employed colored people and the Negro gives them larger patronage, by 99 per cent. than he does his own stores and those who are really friendly to him. The Negro is a talker and not an actor.

HON. JAMES E. BOYD.

ONE of the best appointments that President MCKINLEY has made is that of Hon. JAMES E. BOYD of Greensburg, N. C., in the department of Justice. Mr. BOYD is one of the best known men in the State of North Carolina and a man who is respected for truth, honesty, sincerity and ability to fill the position to which he has been appointed.

The country is now awaiting anxiously to see whether Hon. Mark Hanna, who has never yet lost a political battle, will add another laurel this fall to his capital. As the senatorial long and short terms are involved, the distinguished chairman will have a large and juicy plum to fight for. We shall see what we shall see.

The policy of the leaders in the last presidential campaign knocked the bottom out of the senatorial tub on which the republican party used to stand. Now that they have become more practical and business-like, why do the leaders carry their system of rewards to its logical limit, namely to give to young and influential colored men recognition commensurate with their political usefulness?

Notwithstanding the clamor of the unsatisfied, the axe drops slowly, with no hope of a change of removing instruments and no signs that the axe will be ground or wielded by a more vigorous hand.

EXPORT BOUNTIES.

Senator Cannon Introduces Lubin's Scheme to Help Farmers.

He Makes a Hot Speech and Floors All Opponents—Present Protection Is One Sided and Robs the Farmer—He Now Sells in a Cheap and Buys in a Dear Market—Can Be Protected Only by Export Bounties on Farm Products—If He Cannot Get These He Wants Absolute Free Trade.

Senator Cannon, of Utah, introduced on May 25 an amendment to the tariff bill which is likely to make trouble for the republican leaders, and which may break down the whole protective system. The amendment favors the scheme of paying export bounties on farm products. This scheme is now being pushed vigorously, not only by its author, David Lubin, but also by the grangers of many states and by trades unions and ministers. It makes its fight inside the ranks of protection, and has already opened more farmers' eyes to the folly of the system than all of the tariff reform work that has been done.

Senator Cannon told some plain truths when introducing this amendment. He spoke in part as follows:

It was with great surprise, upon an examination of the measure, that I found that the great class of our population who have from the beginning not only supported the protective tariff party by their votes, but have supported the protective tariff principle by their industry from the beginning of its operation, were in a large degree excluded from any of its benefits. It is, I say, to supply a very patent omission from the measure as it now stands that the amendment is proposed, and it will be advocated here until a vote shall be had thereon.

The bill, as it is offered to-day, affords no protection to agricultural staples. There is remaining, I presume, no advocate of the protective tariff system who will contend that in this bill, with these import duties, there is afforded any protection or benefit of increased prices arising from import duties upon any of those commodities of which we export our surplus, nor are there remaining at the present time in the school of protection very many men who will contend and none who will prove that the indirect protection afforded to the farmer by the tariff on manufactured goods is sufficient compensation to him for the cost entailed upon him in carrying the protective tariff system upon manufactured goods.

It has become apparent to all thoughtful observers, and certainly it is known to all who have any direct connection with the agricultural industry of the United States, that the farmer cannot, and the man who reads him well knows that the farmer will not, much longer bear this burden.

There are three remedies possible. The second remedy, and one which I, as a believer in protection, would be ready to accept rather than to hold to and vote for an inequitable bill, would be absolute free trade, by which the farmer might buy as cheaply as he is compelled to sell, and that remedy this congress will not seek to enforce. There remains, then, but the third—the application of an export bounty which shall in a measure give restitution to the farmer for the higher prices which he is compelled to pay in protected markets.

No proposition based upon the declaration of equal protection to all the industries of the United States is complete, nor can there be successfully made a contention that it is just, unless it gives to the exporter of agricultural staples from the United States an equivalent benefit to that given to the manufacturer by the imposition of an import duty.

A duty of 25 cents a bushel upon wheat is a delusion and a snare. The farmer of the United States gets no benefit from it. The imposition of duty upon cotton, if that were attempted, would be of no value to the cotton producer. The imposition of a duty on rye is of no value to the farmer of the United States. Every other protected industry has a direct benefit from this tariff, because where we do not produce in the United States sufficient for our own consumption and a quantity considerable in extent for export the import duty serves as a means whereby the local producer can enhance the price to the local consumer.

The immediate benefit to the farmer derived from the treasury of the United States would not be all. For this comparatively small expenditure to him he would receive for these staples more than $225,000,000 in higher prices than he now receives. It is true that this would increase the price of breadstuffs to the consumers in the cities, but under the declaration made here to-day that with higher prices the people will be more able to buy we will have a larger consumption of wheat and wheat flour and other agricultural staples in the cities of the country than we have now at the low prices.

Mr. Butler—Mr. President, the senator from Utah said he was in favor of about $13,000,000 export duty on wheat at ten cents a bushel. If we pay an export bounty of ten cents a bushel, that will raise the price of every bushel of wheat, whether exported or consumed at home, that much, will it not?

Mr. Cannon—Certainly it will.

Mr. Butler—Then, for an investment of $13,000,000, which the government would pay out in the shape of an export bounty, the wheat farmers of the country would get their protection of $60,000,000 or $70,000,000, would they not?

Mr. Cannon—They would, if there be any truth in the protective principle.

Mr. Butler—That would be a very good investment.

Mr. Cannon—It would be a very good investment if it were to be made in behalf of any manufacturing industry or any trust in the United States, but anything in behalf of the farmer is looked upon with scorn and is considered a doubtful investment by the legislature of the United States.

In addition, Mr. President, it is a very poor argument, when you have been robbing some man for years and he asks you for justice, to say that you propose to continue to rob him of more and say that you do not know where you are going to get the money with which to restore that which you have unrighteously taken. It is the very first duty of the congress of the United States to provide a bill which shall not only be honest in its present application, but which shall pay back some portion of that which has been taken from the pockets of the toilers of this land.

I have talked with the farmers in 20 states of the union since last fall, and I firmly believe that this tariff would no longer endure them until the farmers of the United States can have a chance to revise it at the polls, if you do not give to them some portion of its benefits.

The farmer is bending beneath a burden which he cannot carry longer. He has been the backbone of the integrity of the United States, but there comes in the place of the free and independent farmer of this country a race of tenantry to reap servilely where he sowed nobly, men who receive their opinions from others instead of giving their own independent voice at the polls and in all their declarations to their fellowmen.

The senate of the United States can afford to be absolutely just. I believe the amendment should be adopted.

Mr. Chandler—May I ask the senator from Utah a question?

Mr. Cannon—Certainly.

Mr. Chandler—I heard the senator speak of robbery a little while ago with reference to the farmer. Does the senator mean that the farmer has been robbed all these years by the tariff? Is that the senator's argument?

Mr. Cannon—Yes, sir, decidedly.

Mr. Chandler—When did the senator first think that the American tariff system was a robbery of the farmer?

Mr. Cannon—Just so soon as the senator gave sufficient attention to the subject to understand the truth of it. I advocated republican tariffs as earnestly and as faithfully in my humble way as the senator from New Hampshire, and I believed exactly what I taught.

But I am not disposed any longer to advocate a system by which one portion of the population is taxed for the benefit of another portion of the population. I think that it is unfair to cherish only one class, and that the class which has already the most power of self-protection. If the senator from New Hampshire will go across the plains of Kansas, as I have gone, and across the plains of Nebraska, I believe in him sufficiently to think he will come back and say that this bill is robbery of the American farmer.

I have stated that I am in favor of a protective tariff system. I stated that in the guilelessness of my soul, being a republican, I went out and advocated the republican idea of a protective tariff. I never was brought quite so close to responsibility concerning it before as I am to-day. Heretofore I have discussed it on the stump, advocating it in general terms, but as soon as I am confronted with responsibility which obliges me to look more closely into its application to all the people I am simply discharging my duty when I seek to amend this measure so that it shall be honest to all.

Pushing Along a Good Thing.

The Infamous Wool Schedule.

The senate computations of the equivalents for Dingley bill rates on woolen goods only need to be stated. They make opposing argument unnecessary in the mere reading. For example, the rate is 55 per cent. on second-class wool, 289 per cent. on garnetted waste, 326 per cent. on shoddy, 171 per cent. on woolen cloths valued at not more than 50 cents per pound, 167 per cent. on blankets more than three yards in length and valued at not more than 50 cents per pound, 212 per cent. on shawls valued at not exceeding 40 cents per pound, 151 per cent. on knit fabrics valued at not exceeding 40 cents per pound, 257 per cent. on hats of wool valued at not more than 30 cents per pound, 419 per cent. on felts of the same value, 147 per cent. on plushes valued at not over 40 cents per pound, and 64 per cent. on the aggregate of woolen carpets.

The people of the United States could better afford to buy every sheep in the country and to put every shepherd on the pension list than to submit themselves to such shameless plundering.—Philadelphia Record.

How Capitalists Save Themselves.

The woolen manufacturers continue to stock up with cheap raw material in anticipation of the coming tariff legislation, the transactions in the Boston market last week amounting to nearly 3,000,000 pounds of foreign wool and over 1,250,000 pounds of domestic. They expect to reap rich profits when they can make this wool into cloth to be sold at the advanced prices which are now in sight. It is one more illustration of the fact that the capitalists can overcome many of the evils of any kind of tariff. It is the consumers who must bear the burden of the suffering.—Providence Journal.

ROSCOE CONKLING BRU

A PROMISING YOUTH WHO GRAD FROM THE WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

From the Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

The following item concerning Roscoe Conkling Bruce, son of ex-Sen Bruce, is quoted from the Ch Record.

"Roscoe Conkling Bruce, son o Senator Bruce of Mississippi, went from the colored high schoo Washington two years ago to Ph Academy at Exeter, N. H., has honored recently by an electio assistant editor for the next year of the Exonian, the magazine published by the students of that institution, which indicates that the color line is not drawn against one boy.

At Phillips Academy he has distinguished himself for scholarship and in oratory. At the recent announcement of the honormen for the present year the name of Roscoe Conkling Bruce stands at the head of the upper middle class, and the Boston papers recently contained flattering descriptions of the delivery of Mr. Blaine's memorial oration on Garfield in the chapel of the academy. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce have heard from other sources of the success and popularity of their son, and are grateful to know that the color blood in his veins has made no difference with his social or intellectual standing.

AN OLD ROAD MADE NEW.

And now another joke is taken away from the already heavy afflicted paragrapher and specialty artist. No more can either ring the changes on that time-honored old minstrel joke about the man who wanted to go to Chicago "the worst way," and was directed to the B. and O. station, for the work of straightening the curves, which were at once the delight and the horror of all through passengers on the "picturesque B. and O." is about concluded and the trip through the mountains no longer reminds one of crossing the English channel on a particular rough day.

This will be welcome news to the general public and to B. & O. enthusiasts—people who would not take any other route to their destinations if the B. and O. would possibly serve them. These are mostly passionate admirers of natural scenery, to whom the gigantic panorama along the B. and O. route can never become stale. Indeed, why should it, when it is never twice the same? Scenery on the scale of such immensity is like the ocean in its susceptibility to change. Not only with the seasons, but with the days, does its beauty vary. And even through a summer day it is never the same scene an hour at a time. Like a kaleidoscope, which the slightest alteration in position occasions a totally new view, so the forests and the mountains along this scenic route assume wholly new appearances with every passing cloud and ever weather condition.

Now that the exagurated bug-bear of the B. & O. curves has been finally disposed of, and its road-bed made second to none, the excellence of its equipment and the peculiarly "make yourself comfortable—we'll do everything we can for you," atmosphere which surrounds the traveler the instance he steps aboard a through train on this road will shortly double and treble the number of B. and O. enthusists, to whom the journey over mountains is less a journey than a pleasure.—The Pittsburg Star, June 5th 1897.

The basket picnic which is to be given by the 19th Street Sunday School this month to Pleasant View Heights, near Falls Church, will no doubt be an enjoyable affair.

The picnic by the Young Men's Protective League at Madre's Park, last Wednesday evening was well attended.

The class which is just leaving the fourth term, High School, is a very interesting one.

POLITICIANS IN TOWN.

Justice of the Peace C. H. Kemp, Sturgeon of Boston, Mass., and candidate for U. S. Consul at St. Keitz, was in the city this week and called on the President. Mr. Sturgeon is indorsed by the entire Massachusetts delegation. He paid his respects to The Bee.

A POPULAR REPRESENTATIVE

Ex-Collector John C. Dancy of North Carolina, the most representative man in the State and one of the most gifted orators in this country, is in the city. Mr. Dancy is today one of the most brilliant young men of the South. He is a forcible speaker and a ripe scholar. Mr. Dancy is an Editor of ability. Editor Dancy will be the collector of port in his state. He paid his respects to The Bee.

Prof. R. R. Wright of Georgia, candidate for Register of the Treasury is in the city fixing his fences that were knocked down by Bishop Arnett for Mr. Gaines of Kentucky. Professor Wright is very much surprised to know that the Bible Bishop had turned his eye in another direction. In conversation with a Bee representative he said "he was very hopeful."

A very beautiful and pleasant surprise party was tendered Miss Erma Richardson and Miss Grace Campbell, in honor of their graduation at the Washington Kindergarten Institute, on last Friday evening, at the residence of Dr. Geo. H. Richardson.

Mr. H. C. Denny, a lawyer of Hickory Co., N. C , and who was a candidate for comparer of deeds is still in the city. Mr. Denny would no doubt make a good comparer.

ADVANCED NORMAL SCHOLARS

Commencement exercises were help in the Magruder school building Friday morning June 18, by the senior class of the normal school. A large number gathered in the assembly room, which had been elaborately decorated. The first part of the exercises was a resume of the practice work in the first, second and third grades. After a song by the school, an exhibition in Swedish gymnastics was given. The exercises were performed in perfect unison, the beneficial results of the drilling being plainly evident.

Mr. E. Syphax read a very able paper on the "History and Purpose of Normal Schools." He traced the history of the normal idea from its incipiency to the present day, and showed both research and originality in the discussion of his subject. The class history was read by Miss R. Sprague, the prophecy by A. Charite, and the class poem by H. E. Wilson. Addresses were made by Dr. Thomas and Dr. Mayo. The latter complimented the class on the efficiency attained, and in conclusion called their attention to the need of the South for just such workers as they had become. The exercises concluded with a song by the class.

The members of the senior class are Misses Mary Brawner, Mabel Bland, Bertie Beard, Dena Butler, Olive Contee, Anna Campbell, Sarah Clarke, Bertha Cole, Anna Charite, Jennetta Garrett, Sadie Gaskins, Annie Howard Margaret Janifer, Alice Lewis, Lillian Moore, Marietta Morgan, Virginia Quander, Blanche Snowden, Rosabelle Sprague, Gertrude Tibbs, Elizebeth Toler, Mabel Turner and Messrs Harry Ball, William Brooks, Robert Greene, Burrell Jefferson, Charles Minkins, Edward Syphax, James Richardson and Herbert Wilson.

THE COMING DESTRUCTION TO WASHINGTON. IS THE CITY IN DANGER?

Dr. Andrew Jones, the Prophet and Evangelist and no doubt the best known preacher in the world, is in the city. He has just returned from an extensive tour in the west, visiting Kansas, Mo., Kansas City, Kan., St. Louis, Mo., Chicago Ill., Indianapolis, West Virginia and Pittsburg. Dr. Jones preached in Alexandria Va., all last week and on to-morrow evening he will preach in the Metropolitan Baptist church. He has predicted the destruction of Chicago, Ill., New York and other eastern cities. He also predicted some time ago the recent earthquakes. The first vision which appeared to him was on April 16, 1884. He saw New York trembling under influences of a supernatural kind, and he predicted an earthquake. On August 10, of the same year the earthquake with its attendant catastrophies actually occured. The great Charleston earthquake was predicted six months and eighteen days before it occurred.

In 1884 he walked four times from Pittsburg to Johnstown to warn the people of the impending flood. It occured in 1889. In 1893, while in Cincinnatti he had a vision of St. Louis, where he had preached many times. He saw an immense storm sweeping the place and carrying destruction before it. He saw the buildings torn to pieces and the dead lying in the streets. The tornado visited St. Louis two years and seven months afterward.

These predictions were published in newspapers in different parts of the country. Dr. Jones now predicts for the destruction of one portion of this city, but just when it is to take place The Bee is unable to state. Dr. Jones is a thorough race man and says with great vehemence that God will protect the Negro. He says the great money question will result in the election of Bryan in 1900 and his election will result in a financial war which will greatly aid the Negro. He does'nt believe in Bryan but he is sure that he will be elected in 1900 He has great hopes in the future success of the colored race. The people should not fail to greet this great Negro prophet.

WHAT THE BEE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW.

If liars can succeed.

Who is the most representative Negro in the race?

Do we not need a new leadership?

Should apologists and trimmers be recognized?

If it is not too early for the Negro to kick.

If ingratitude is not disastrious to the ungrateful?

Is not a change needed in our High and Normal schools?

Is not the tail wagging the hands?

WHAT THE BEE WOULD LIKE TO SEE.

Bogus and fake leaders exposed.

The colored race cease being misrepresented.

Colored democrats given a dose of their own medicine.

A new leadership by January 1, 1897.

IT IS RUMORED.

Arnett was cut down to his size.

There will be more trimmers down shortly.

There will be no bible in it either.

There was one part of the bible the Bishop overlooked.

Matthew 19th verse 16th chapter, "And I will give unto Thee the keys of the Kingdom of heaven and whatsoever Thou shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven and whatsoever Thou shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The Registership has gone never to return again.

"And all things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive"

The Registership was asked for in the name of politics and his alleged political pull with the Negro.

A NEW LEADERSHIP.

THE TOAST RESPONDED TO BY LAWYER T. L. JONES AT THE BANQUET IN HONOR OF W. CALVIN CHASE BY THE PERSONAL LIBERTY LEAGUE, JUNE 15.

When Lee handed Grant his sword at Appomattox Court House in 1865, dripping with the blood of defeat from a hundred battle fields of the Republic, a new era dawned upon the American people. A gigantic rebellion which had impoverished the Nations treasury and baptized the American flag in the best blood of its citizens and drenched it in the tears of widows and orphans settled two mighty questions. One was the rehabilitation of a broken and severed Union and the other was the emancipation of 4,000,000 slaves from abject thraldom and placing them upon political equality in common with their white fellow citizens. In order to make sure and permanent the freedom of a colored American and to fix his civil and political status beyond question, certain amendments were adopted to the National Constitution insuring and making emphatic the doctrine that henceforth no man in our country is white and no man black but all free American citizens, endowed with the American ballot, the rights and privileges which it guarantees. With this citizenship for the colored American came grave and solemn responsibilities which he was ill prepared to meet. Coming out of slavery confronted with new conditions and environments and facing difficulties and obstacles unsurpassed by any nation coming out of slavery and struggling for supremacy, it was but natural that we should cast about among ourselves for a leader, who would not only lead us aright but who was able to give us words of wisdom, admonition and counsel.

That we have had certain men that we have regarded as leaders, there can be no question. That we have followed them, there can be no doubt. Whether they have been true or false, history must answer. When I speak of leaders, I mean those of our race who for the last thirty years have been foremost before the country dictating terms, formulating policies, as they termed for the good and welfare of the race. Associated with these men are the late Fred'k Douglass, Ex-Congressman John M. Langston, P. B. S. Pinchback, Ex-Senator B. K. Bruce, Hon. John R. Lynch et al, whose names press upon my memory, but which time and space do not permit me to mention.

By political foresight and sagacity, these gentlemen whose names I have mentioned, have by the people been elevated to places of prominence, emolument and responsibility. They have had opportunities to serve the race and do for the race, things it could not do for itself, and their services and labors in behalf of the colored American and along the line of political, moral and civil advancement, commands at the hands of the nine million colored people of this country, special gratitude, commendation and applause. They have in other words brought us out of the land of Egypt across he Red Sea and while we lingered divided, contending and differing upon matters of policy and problems upon which hangs our destiny in this Republic; Douglas went to Mt. Pisgoh and there he heard the voice of the pale watchman and he was gathered to his Fathers. We are yet in the wilderness.

The Negro is less a citizen today than at any time since his emancipation—Socially and civilly he is prescribed against on every hand and politically he is fast losing his foothold as an important factor in helping to mould and shape the destiny of the Republic.

How shall we correct these evils and reassert our manhood and right to all those privileges and immunities which are the rightful inheritors of all our citizens? The history of other nations may suggest a remedy.

Every race or nationality has had its champions; able, sagacious and fearless in the advocacy of the rights and liberties of the people. Tonight amidst the rolling hills and castillian plains of Ireland's sunny clime can still be heard the voice of Daniel O'Connell as he thundered in the defense of his countrymen. The outrages upon his people, the oppressive laws enacted to fasten the yoke of serfdom and social ostracism upon their necks, so fired the heart of this wonderful champion of human rights that his utterances and appeals in the interest of his fellows gave all the world to understand that Deniel O'Connell was a true friend of the Irish.

England today, with her matchless government, her wonderful resources and acquisitions, owes its existence largely, to the wisdom, foresight and sacrifices of Gladstone and a host of others who have preceeded him, who in all emergencies that have arisen calculated to overthrow the government, have been to her a rock of defense, guarding and protecting her interests against the onslaughts of both internal and foreign foes.

The colored American who expects to hold and enjoy the respect and confidence of the colored race as its champion and leader in this age of our civilization, must be a man in the broadest, truest and best sense; one who will contend for the rights and liberties of the people, no matter at what cost or sacrifice. Not a truculent apoligetic piece of physical monstrosity who to win the favor of the more fortunate class, will Judas-like sell out the race for thirty pieces of silver, but men like Toussaint L'Overture, John Brown, William Lloyd Garrison, Phillips, John M. Langston, Bruce and Douglass, who if need be, would go through the gateway of blood and martyrdom to their places in history, in order to secure to the humblest of our land, the perfect enjoyment of all his rights—civil and political, as guaranteed by the constitution and laws of his country.

It is incumbent upo you, Mr. Editor along with the host of your fellow associates who mould the public sentiment of the country, who make and unmake men, to see to it that those who style themselves as leaders of the race and intrusted with the destiny of 10,000,000 Negroes in this country—shall do their whole duty in such behalf and not prove recreant to their trust.

May the Personal Liberty League, representing as it does in its name, the jewel, which the blood of patriots and martyrs have placed in the family of freedom; see to it in your upward march that so far as it lies in your power, you will aid in bringing about such a public sentiment that at no distant period, there will be no part of complaint on the account of any of our citizens.

Douglass is gone, to that undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveler has ever yet returned, we hear his voce no more. The other leaders are with us, are they equal to the task. I would not speak one unkind word of Mr. Bruce or rob him of any of the laurels he so justly deserves at the hands of his country men. I shall not smear the silvery lock of ex-Governor Pinchback with the pitch of censure, I would rather go down into the tongueless silence of dreamless dust unwept, unhonored and unsung, than to be accorded riches and honor as a recompense for underrating the influence, power and ability of that magnetic orator, statesman, philanthropist, scholar and man, the Hon. John Mercer Langston. With due regard for his and the services of those who have been associated with him in all these years of the negro's struggles for equal rights and the enjoyment of his liberty in this country and while appreciating and thanking them for the great good that has come to the race under thier leadership, the negroes are demanding at this time, a new leadership. [A voice, "What is to become of the old leaders Mr. Jones?] They have served our race and country ably, faithfully and well and God Almighty will take care of them, and if he does not, the devil will (Great laughter and enthusiastic applause.) There were cries of what's the matter with Chase.

GIVE US SENATOR BRUCE.

From The Indianapolis Freeman.

Nine-tenths of the masses of the colored people recognize Senater Bruce as the strongest and most available man for Register of the Treasury.

His appointment would cement all the discordant elements and leave the least amount of bitterness in the hearts of the disappointed. He belongs to no faction. He represents no especial clique or interest. He stands for all the people, and is the nearest approach the race has yet had to real statemanship. For many years the names of Douglass and Bruce were linked as our best loved chieftains. Douglass is gone, and Bruce is the natural legatee of the veneration and respect which the masses felt for both. Bruce is a national character in every sence of the word and it is impossible to narrow him to a locality. His friends are everwhere, and if he has enemies they are unable to offer a logical reason why and therefore do not enter the equation. State questions of local considerations properly have no bearing upon his selection.

DRESS PARADE AT FORT WASHINCTON.

To Our General of the Guard.

[By Comrade Samuel Adam Wiggins.]

He rode his steed, a gentle bay,
Pale as the angels wings that day,
Above his head in bright array,
"Our General of the Guard."

Clad in their golden armor, bright
With flaming falchion flashing light,
And curling plumed in helmets white,
"Our angels of the Guard."

He was a comrade tried and true,
A soldier of the starry blue,
One of the nation's heroes too.
"Our General of the Guard."

About his way, in front and rear,
Troops of celestial hosts appear,
On glorious pinions hover near,
"Our General of the Guard."

In battle hour mid deadly strife,
From fatal shot and treacherous knife,
They guarded well his precious life,
"Our General of the Guard."

With golden cornets of the band,
And silver trumpets pealing grand,
The spendid Banners waving stand,
Proudly the "Guard" salute.

The gallant brave, with dusky brow,
The comrade with the face of snow,
They saved "Our Country" dear, we know
And Freedom's glorious Flag.

And so a host of angels still,
According to His mighty will,
Cover their heads from every ill,
Our heroes of the Guard.

And thus that lovely summer day,
The heavenly host in bright array,
The poet saw about his way,
"Our General of the Guard."

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE

The annual commencement of the colored High School occurred at the Academy of Music last Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, and the house was crowded with the parents and friends of the graduates. The stage was prettily decorated with palms and flowers, and the members of the graduating classes were seated upon tiers of seats that occupied almost the entire stage. The Marine Band was in attendance and rendered a delightful musical programme.

The exercises were opened with a couple of selections by the orchestra, and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. F. J. Grimke, pastor of the Fifteenth Street Presbyterian Church, who prayed for Divine guidance in the life of the young persons just entering upon their career in life. Then followed a series of orations, interspersed by music by members of the graduating class. These orations were well delivered and enthusiastically received by the audience. They included "The Chief Need of the Hour," by William H. Beason; "How Science Teaches Morality," by Charles W. Burrill; "What Shall the Harvest Be?" by Mary G. Storum, and the valedictory by Daniel A. Brooks.

The graduates numbered about seventy-six and presented a beautiful appearance, dressed in dainty white organdies and ribbons. Most of the young men wore full dress suits, with button hole bouquets. Commissioner Wright conferred the diplomas, after which trustee Bruce in a neat speech, introduced Mr. Robert H. Terrell, who delivered an excellent address, which was a master piece of eloquence, full of sound talk and good advice.

ENJOY YOUR 4th JULY ON B. & O.

HORN, THE TAILOR.

To-day, friends I bid you adieu. For three months I have presented to the citizens of Washington, through the columns of The Bee, prices ranging from ten ($10) dollars and upwards for superior suits of clothes, made to order, out of imported goods. No man has made an effort to please and give satisfaction more than myself.

I have invited you to my store 637 F street n. w., to inspect my goods. You have been there and I am satisfied that you have been pleased. I am confident that I have fully explained to you that I can make you a better suit of clothes for less money than any other house in the city. It is all unnecessary for me to continue talking to you about my goods, when the best people in this city are wearing them.

Prices at this place are uniform. You know just what you are going to pay and the quality of goods you are going to wear before you pay for them. You are not purchasing my goods with your eyes closed, I don't do busines that way. Come and select a sample and carry it to any tailor in the city and if he says it is not what I represent it to be, I will make a suit of clothes for nothing. Will any other house make the same proposition to you? Ask those who have bought my goods, if they are not as I have represented them. Come yourself and inspect my goods. You are not compelled to buy if you don't want them. If you want a fine summer suit made to order, come and select the style and quality of goods. A perfect fit is guaranteed before you pay. Do you want a perfect fit?

Remember that I am prepared to do all I say and all I ask you to do is give me a call. I make the finest and the cheapest trousers in the city from $3 and upward. These are made to order remember. The finest sack and frock coats in any style. Prince Albert coats. Full dress suits a specialty. Call on me before going elswhere or go elsewhere and bring the quality of your goods to me and I will beat them for the money.

I will make it an object to you. You cannot afford to pay a fancy price for inferior goods. This is the only house that will guarantee satisfaction and when you want to be convinced call and see, Horn, the tailor,

A DEMAND FOR BRUCE.

From the Indianapolis Freeman.

The delay in assigning certain first class places, tacitly conceded to our race, is causing a little uneasiness, and a remedy is being sought to bring about speedy results. It is broadly hinted that the colored man's lack of harmony is the root of the trouble, and that Mr. McKinley is embarrassed by the strong factional disputes in various quarters.

To the end that harmony may be secured and consequent race success, the withdrawal of minor candidates for Register would be a wise step. We believe, without reservation, that Ex-Senator B. K. Bruce, is the Negro's strongest, most popular and most available candidate for the exalted position. President McKinley could not do better than to appoint him immediately.

ADVANTAGE
—OF—
BAILEY'S IMPROVED TRUSS
It adjusts itself so perfectly to the nature that it is impossible for it to become displaced.
It permits the utmost freedom of motion with perfect safety.
All uncomfortable and injurious steel spring pressure is avoided.
The pad is held in place by woven bands, which retain an equal pressure in all positions of the body.
It can be worn in bed, a great desideratum to the youug as tending to perfect cure.
It is the only suitable truss for children and females.
The proper amount of pressure can be brought to bear and maintained in any position without pinching or harm to the wearer.
It will cure hernia if placed on the patient sufficiently early.
Excepting umbilical, it is the best truss ever offered for all kinds of hernia.
It is so perfect and comfortable in its adjustment that the patient in a short time forgets he is wearing it. (See the certificate of Mr. Dan Johnson.)
Sent postage paid to any address on receipt of price; $3 for single and $5 for double truss.
In ordering, give location of hernia, right or left side, and measurement. Satisfaction given or money refunded when the truss is returned in good order. Address:

S.—Yes, a woman can certainly blast man's character. Just to think of a woman swearing that a man has insulted her, and at the same time know it's not true. A man who is accused of a serious offense can out live the disgrace, but will forever bear the stain. You should never tell a falsehood for revenge.

Carrie.—Don't worry about your complexion or wearing apparel. Brains and self respect lead.

S. E.—No one admires a manish looking women or a girl dressed in masculine attire. She is depised by men and disliked by ladies of fine attainments.

To have a mean disposition is to have a bad master, which one should endeavor to control.

Laura.—You should not think that your husband has no right to tell you of your duty. When a woman doesn't know her household duties, she should be told of them.

Dora.—Beware of people who manifest so much interest in your family affairs, for they are really after the particulars of your business.

Girls.—The duties that lie nearest you are the first to be looked after. Some people pass great objects for smaller ones and when they see their error it is entirely too late.

Inez.—Don't associate with people of questionable character, as you will fall in the same rut.

S. E.—The person who works the hardest usually receives the most blame, or are expected the most of. The idle ones, who do nothing can't be responsible for anything, hence they are nothing, and to nothing they go.

M. B.—Yes it is ridiculous to see a person, especially a lady standing on the street corners, conversing with men at night. Some people would be wiser if they did not know so much.

S.—When some one tells you that you look bad, it is all foolishness to go around with a sad face. Women don't often pass a compliment on one of their sex when they look well.

A. M.—Some women never realize how much pleasure it is to be single, till after they are married. This is because they made a mistake in their marriage.

E. V.—Don't be so wrapped up in yourself. It is already being said that you are an egotist who think more of yourself than other people think of you. When one can forget himself a few minutes and think or look after the welfare of others, he will feel more most happy and be doing what is right. We were made to look out for and others interest.

A woman's influence is a great thing. Improve if possible, woman for one hour and that day will be one of blank, to go down with history.

Don't be idle. If your hands are not fully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind. Society demands a cultivated person. A good thinker is usually a good talker.

I do not advise any of my girls who are earning a good salary to give it up for the sake of love, especially when they are earning more money than the man. But don't understand me to say that I approve of girls being old maids. Old maids are never happy because they are so set in their ideas, no one can please them.

E. W.—You have advised others to make no promises they cannot keep. It seem to forget that it is good doctrine to practice what you preach I see you have not come to the same conclusion that the ministers have and that is "not to do as they do, but do as they say." No one is worthy of giving advice except he is willing to abide by the same.

Fashion.—I do not approve of the fancy colors under organdies, except at least, you can have about three different colors. To wear one dress of the same color, especially a fancy color as the organdies call for, so conspicuously, it makes one conspicious. Nothing is more daintier and pretty than white, under any summer fabric, matters not how sheer. White silk or cotton goods can be had very reasonably for these beautiful airy organdies, also real silk for those who are more elaborately inclined.

Ex.—Speak only of what you know. The person who knows every body's business is a gossiper.

Dressed kid gloves are more worn than suede. Brown and gray gloves look best with costumes of the same color.

Linen collars demand ties, but they are not much liked as the pretty ribbow, which always gives one an easy effect.

Summer skirts are seen decorated with from four to five ruffles, cut on the bias and bound with narrow Valenciennes laces.

Pretty little bolero jackets are seen in many of the most fashionable costumes, but in thin goods the bolero is not very appropriate as it demands lining. Of course lace can be used in the manner to give the bolero effect.

Black oxford ties look better with light dresses than tan. White slippers are inclined to be "out of date," although many are seen.

SECRET ORDERS

MULTUS IN PARTIS.

Ark Valley Lodge, No. 21, A. F. A. A. M., of Wichita, Kan., had public installation St. Johns Day. Fine affair, etc.

From the National Reflector, Wichita, Kansas, June, 12, '97.

For the first time in the history of Oddfellowship in this country a member of the G. U. O. O. F. has been sent with fraternal greetings to the mother A. M. C. in England. Mr. J. McHenry Jones, of Ohio, was chosen for this mission at Indianapolis last October. He sailed for England May 26, and his mission is for the purpose of establishing reciprocal relations between America and England.

The G. U. O. of O. F. was established in 1843 and today in this country they have 3000 lodges and 250,000 members.

The Order of G. S. A. D. of S. held their 49th annual session, June 10, in Baltimore. There was a large attendance.

The K. of P. of Georgia will hold its 8th annual session July 6, '97 at Atlanta. The 6th will be for business, the 7th for Bicycle parades, ball games, cycle races, prizes, etc., the 8th will be a grand street parade and prize drill ended with banquet.

IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.

Big time by the Pilgrims on Ascension. Commanderies from Topeka and Kansas City unite with Northwest No. 6 of St. Jos.ph, Mo. The Sir Knights were out in full force. There were four Commanderies in line. Grand parade over 150 Sir Knights in line during the parade. Cyrene Commandery of Topeka carried a beautiful banner presented by the Eastern Star. The work on the banner was performed by Mrs. J. Hume-Childer, wife of Em. Sir J. Hume Childer 33.° G. R. of K. T. for the state of Kansas. The banner is a fine piece of work composed of crimson silk shaded by lambrequin of black silk velvet, heavy gold bullion, Knightly inscriptions etc. After the parade the Grand Court of Heroines of Jericho of Mossourri, held their annual session and election of Grand Officers. In the evening there was a fine banquet etc.

The Supreme Lodge of K. of P., H. A. S. A. E. A. A. A., will convene in Columbus Ohio, August 13, '97. The G. Chancellor reports that New York has returned to the fold and there remains but one jurisdiction out viz: Illinois. Brave men in the D. C. will take due notice, etc.

LATER REPORT.

ILLINOIS IN LINE.

The K. of P. of D. C. held public installation June 9. Sir H. N. Smith was installed as the Grand Chancellor of the D. C. Our Pythian scribe failed to make full report hence we are unable to publish the full list.

St. Georges Commandery of K. T. of Chicago will run her annual picnic to Monon Park, July 8. The Park is a fine place.

The G. M. of Texas has got behind Bro. J. C. Scott for giving his views. From the facts presented it looks like nother D. C. affairs, the G. M. being judge and jury in the case. We rest here but will continue later.

The Crescent Lodge No. 2, K. of P. of Savannah Ga., gave a fine excursion to Danfriski June 22. Fine affair.

The Grand Lodge of Georgia held its 27th annual communication at Rome Ga., June 23. There was a large attendance. Session opened at 2 P. M.

Big column next week. Some very interesting reading matter will appear, appertaining to doings of Secret Societies. Read The BEE and keep informed.

King Solomon Lodge No. 1, Jerusalem No. 2 Hiriam Abiff No. 3 and Joppo No. 4, F.A.A. A. T. R. Masons of the D. C. celebrated St. Johns Day June 24, by giving a union picnic at East End Pleasure Park. The committee of arrangements were Brothers J. H. McDowell, Rev. Peter Lucas, E. W. Shields and J. T. Fortune Worshipful Masters of the four Lodges. There was a good attendance of Craftsmen and their friends and the affair was a success. The Genesta orchestra furnished the music. All departed well pleased with the affair.

For light upon dark subjects and useful points read The BEE, the organ of A. A. S. R. Mystic Shrine and Secret orders in general.

SUMMER HOMES AND RESORTS

The Southern Railway is the first of our great railway systems to give information to the public and to fix low excursion rates for a summer outing good for return until October 31, by issuing, with usual promptness, its Summer Home and Resort Book.

It is handsome in design and artistic in every respect, having thirty-six beautifully illustrated pages, containing the most complete and conveniently arranged information, calculated to answer fully and satisfactorily every question likely to be propounded, such as routes and distances, hotels and boarding houses, names of proprietors, how to reach them, rates of board by day, week, and month, etc.

The Southern offers a choice of mountain and seaside resorts, the surf bathing and sea breezes of some of the most delightful resorts on the Atlantic Coast or the cool mountain breezes of Swannanoa, Asheville, Lookout Mountain and others 2,500 feet above the sea level.

For copy of guide call at office of any prominent coupon agent or send 2-cent stamp to L. S. Brown, General Agent, Washington, D. C.

THE MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

From The Boston Courant.

LIVELY ADDRESS BY THE REV. DR. JOHNSON, OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Rev. Dr. W. Bishop Johnson, Editor of the "National Baptist Magazine" of Washington, D. C., and the general manager of the publishing house of the negro Baptists in the United States, gave a lively address before the New England Baptist Missionary Convention at Jewell Hall last evening, urging the black man to support and care for their own publications. Dr. Johnson said that he was a black man through and through and had an impression that the reason why the negro had been educated and assisted by the white people for the past twenty-five years was that he might feel his own strength and be a man. This education had been for the purpose of opening to him fields of usefulness that were closed to him before, and he wanted the negro Baptists of the country to come up to their privileges and support their own magazine, their own Sunday school literature and other publications by the race for the uplifting of the people. Of the magazine he said that every bit of it, from cover to cover, was the product of negro brains and of negro skill in printing. The poem on "The Negro" in the current number was written by a man who was "blacker than 10,000 midnights." The mission of the educated negroes of the country was to perserve in all efforts to build up the race. God had not yet ceased to work out the distinctive purpose for which the black man was placed in this country. The negro was not here to be "assimilated" out of sight, nor lynched out, nor flooded out, but was here to fulfill the mission set for him, and until that was done the race had its great work before it. The speaker did not wish to raise a race cry; he was friendly to all things that were good, but he was firmly convinced that the negro must work out his mission as a negro. The negro Baptists in the country numbered 1,500,000 and "when you get that number of negroes together," said Dr. Johnson, "you get more intelligence and more ignorance than in any other denomination in the country." Dr. Johnson had not been in favor of Sunday school literature which was taught to his father and which had for its chief text. "Servants, obey your masters." The literature published by the educated Christian negroes of to-day was quite a different affair and he was glad to commend it.

OBSERVATION SLEEPING CARS ON B. & O.

Commencing Sunday, June 13, the B. & O. R. R. will place in service, between Baltimore and Chicago, Pullman Observation Sleeping Cars. The cars have a saloon parlor in the rear, furnished with easy arm chairs, upholstered revolving chairs and sofas. This will enable passengers to view with better advantage to scenic wonders that have made the B. & O. famous.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co, Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,
